DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Richard, Gonden G., Service Advertisement and Discovery: Enabling Universal Device Cooperation, IEEE Internet Computing, Sept-Oct 2000 (hereafter Gonden).

As per claims 1-44, Gonden teaches a method for controlling a remote device, comprising:

defining a service-specific protocol to facilitate remote control of a service provided by the remote device;

sending control commands from the host computer to the remote device based on the service-specific protocol to cause the remote device to perform the service using the data that are sent to the remote device.

Gonden teaches, on page 1, paragraphs 1-4 and page 11, paragraph 4, the use of Universal Plug and play for providing a user with a set of device descriptions and list of associated device services, which allow for selective retrieval of service descriptions, and allow for invoking the control actions via service specific protocols. Gonden further teaches, on page 16, paragraph 4, the use of the XML Schema as defined by W3C, but doesn't teach information organized into categories. W3C teaches the XML Schema as used by Gonden, but further teaches, on page 23, paragraph 3, that the XML Schema enables groups of elements (categories) be defined and named. Gonden also teaches the markup language being text based on page 11, paragraph 2, the use of XML which is known in the art to be a text based markup language (see attached definition). The markup language identifies an element with a tag, and wherein the tag is defined in a schema the use of XML which is known in the art to allow for custom tags to offer greater flexibility in organizing and presenting information (see attached definition). Further, Gonden teaches the use of UPnP for audio/video entertainment and the use of Universal Plug and Play for providing a user with a set of device descriptions, each conveying its capabilities, and list of associated device services, which allow for selective retrieval of service descriptions via service specific protocols.

Claims 1-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Dubal et al., (US 6,711,630).

As per claims 1-44, Dubal teaches a method for controlling a remote device, comprising:

defining a service-specific protocol to facilitate remote control of a service provided by the remote device;

sending data corresponding to the service provided by the remote device via a host-side software module running on a host computer in a format defined by the service-specific protocol from the host computer to the remote device over a network communication link;

sending control commands from the host computer to the remote device based on the service-specific protocol to cause the remote device to perform the service using the data that are sent to the remote device. (Abstract, cols. 2-6)

Claims 1-44 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Newlin et al., (US 5,636,211).

As per claims 1-44, Newlin teaches a method for controlling a remote device, comprising:

defining a service-specific protocol to facilitate remote control of a service provided by the remote device;

sending data corresponding to the service provided by the remote device via a host-side software module running on a host computer in a format defined by the service-specific protocol from the host computer to the remote device over a network

sending control commands from the host computer to the remote device based on the service-specific protocol to cause the remote device to perform the service using the data that are sent to the remote device. (Abstract, cols. 2-8)
